FROM THE EDITOR

We are at the start of a new year, and in the wake of a pandemic-stricken 2020 feeling a little battle-scarred. Had it not been for our faith in the goodness of God I am not sure many would have survived. The media abounds with horror stories of the effects of the pandemic, and in particular, the isolation that lockdowns forced on people. It was here, more than anywhere else, that the effects were tragic – a rise in crime, suicides and substance abuse seemed to be the order of the day on a global scale. While I do not have proof, I would venture a guess that those numbers may have been way lower if people were steadfast and secure in their relationship with and faith in God.

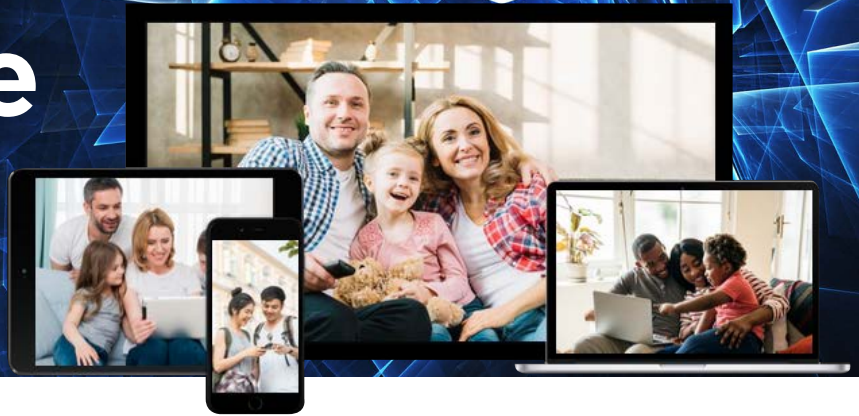

With this at the forefront of our minds, it also is a challenging encouragement to each of us to pursue our relationship with God and greater and deeper levels. Despite the tragedies that befall us while “in” the world (not “of” the world), God remains in charge! And in that lies our security – God loves us. Our responsibility is now to convey that love to people we meet that have not yet come to experience this love for themselves. It is this love, and only this love, that had the power to pull us out of the depths of despair and discouragement.

Once we realize that the love of God is overriding in the universe, our security and confidence becomes unshakable. In fact, we can take that confidence and deposit it into the lives of other people, starting at home and taking it outside the walls of that environment. This deposit becomes a legacy we are able to leave for our children and their children.

All that remains for us to say is, “This year is going to be awesome!” We can make this declaration because we know God loves us, God is in charge, and He has plans and a purpose for our life that is never meant to harm us, but rather to prosper us.

REPENTANCE

In John 15:7 Jesus says, "If you live in Me [abide vitally united to Me] and My words remain in you and continue to live in your hearts, ask whatever you will, and it shall be done for you."

There it is, loud and clear - loving God is far more than lip service, it's a daily decision to invest in a living relationship with Jesus, through His indwelling Holy Spirit, where His Word and ways become our own. When they do, we are guaranteed that whatever we ask, will be done for us - it's that simple.

Having said that, we want to share one of these key principles we find in God's Word we are expected to walk in, when we profess to walk in His ways. It's the second truth we should pay attention to when we come before the Lord in prayer.

It's the principle of turning our back on sin!

It's true Jesus did deal with the sin issue on the cross. The Bible says he broke the curse and power sin has over us, by His redeeming blood. He has given us a brand new nature, His very own in fact, that is not cursed and tainted with the bondage of sin. Hallelujah! Now we can live by the power of God and His Spirit in His ways! We don't have to succumb to the temptation to sin any more.

We can daily choose to live sin free. His power that's at work in us, and our minds continually being renewed to His Word enable us to do this. When we live like this we stop shrugging our shoulders saying, "Oh, I'm just a sinner saved by grace." No, we begin to boldly declare that we are the righteousness of God in Christ Jesus! Do you see the change of perspective?

In 1 Timothy 1:19, Paul tells us that when there is sin in our lives, our consciences are seared before the Lord and our faith becomes shipwrecked. This is not what we want to happen because we

*"A life of daily obedience to His voice and

know without faith, we will never receive God's promises. So choose to turn your back on sin, give yourself to living for God, and you will receive all He has promised you.

So, what have we learnt from today's letter? Firstly, according to Jesus, a life of daily obedience to His voice and His Word will cause us to have whatever we ask Him for. And secondly, when we choose to see ourselves as God does - empowered to live free from sin - our faith becomes strengthened, not weakened!

Understanding we are made righteous through the blood of Jesus, and have a brand new nature that is free and able to live for Him - sin will have no pull on us and we can continuously turn our back on it. This fuels and strengthens our faith instead of shipwrecking it so we can believe in God's good character and His promises.

DISCOVER WISDOM THAT WILL CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

Every day, we are faced with hundreds of decisions. We decide whether or not to get out of bed, what we'll eat, what we'll do, what we will think about, and what we will say. We make decisions about everything from how we style our hair to how we will react to more serious situations at work or at home.

While it may seem like many of our daily choices are not that significant, the truth is they do matter.

In Deuteronomy 30:19 (NIV), God says, "...I have set before you life and death, blessings and curses. Now choose life, so that you and your children may live."

It's important to understand that every choice you make is a seed you sow, and those seeds produce fruit in your life - either for life or death. And if you want to have the life Jesus died to give you - a life filled with peace and joy - then you need to make wise choices.

I think many times we can be good at focusing on life's "big" decisions only to be defeated by the small ones. The Song of Solomon 2:15 actually tells us that it's the "little foxes" that spoil the vine. Likewise, the many small decisions we make every day add up and greatly impact our lives.

For example, I make it a habit to go to bed at 9 o'clock every night so that I can be asleep by about 9:30. If I get to bed on time, then I'm able to get up on time and spend quality time with God before I have to go on with the rest of my day.

Some people might think, does your bedtime really matter that much?

Yes! Because if I decided to go to bed whenever I felt like it, I would sabotage my time with God - the very thing I need to grow as a Christian. After a few days, I would also end up feeling tired and worn-out from staying up late and begin to wonder why everything seemed so difficult.

It's so simple, yet I believe things like this affect our lives more than we realize. We have to learn to live deeper than what we want, what we think, and what we feel.

Wisdom always chooses to do now what it will be satisfied with later on.

Conversely, foolish choices are often made without any consideration of the consequences. I've actually seen the word foolishness defined as "without common sense."

Now here's the great news: If you've made foolish choices (and we've all done it) and you're not happy with the way things are right now, you can change.

"Now choose life"

The first step is to take responsibility for the wrong choices you've made. It's important to be honest with yourself because Jesus says that the truth will set us free (John 8:32), and that includes the truth about ourselves.

The next step is to make a determined decision to change, to begin making wise choices for your future.

We need to realize that none of us can change ourselves. Only God can give us the strength and ability to change our habits and the way we think, talk, and act. Only He can help us make great decisions for our lives.

I know this because there was a time in my life when I desperately wanted to change but it was clear that I couldn't do it on my own. I needed God to heal me, strengthen me, and make me secure and whole in Christ. Only then was I able to choose life on a regular basis.

Whatever changes you need to make, I encourage you to go to God for help. Pray and ask Him to guide you and give you the strength to make wise choices.

In addition, look up scriptures and study the Bible in the areas where you are struggling - whether it's anger, unforgiveness, self-control, or anything else. There is power in God's Word to change your life, and the more you read and study it, the more joy, strength, and freedom you will experience.

So, think about this: What could your life be like if you started making better choices right now? Don't put it off any longer. The truth is there won't be a more convenient time, and you don't have to waste another day missing out on a better future.

With God's help, you can do it! If your progress seems slow, don't get discouraged because when you stay determined to make wise choices, things will eventually start to change...and you will begin to see the great life God has for you.

HE WILL NOT FORGET

I am busy reading the Book of 1 Samuel at present and early this morning, while having my quiet time, I read the story of how the Lord delivered the Israelites at the battle of Mizpah.

Isn't it amazing we have a Mizpah just down the road from the farm, then just up the road there is an old youth centre that was built by one of my dearest brothers in Christ, who has long since gone to be with Jesus... he called that youth camp Ebenezer. Of course, Ebenezer means 'thus far the Lord has helped us'.

I firmly believe we need to remember: in these troubled times in which we are living, when many people are losing hope and losing sight because of a spirit of fear that is gripping them – the Lord has never let us down!

In Hebrews 13:5 (NKJV) the Lord says very clearly: "I will never leave you nor forsake you."

The Lord doesn't tell lies. What He says He means. We need to remember this and we need to encourage one another – maybe with a phone call, an email or a WhatsApp message. We need to remind each other that it doesn't matter what the world says, it doesn't matter what happens in politics, and it doesn't matter what happens in hospitals - the Lord has promised us that He will never forsake us and He will never leave us.

"The Lord has never let us down"

I remember many years ago, as a young man, I went to Australia to work on some ranches. I clearly remember working on a Hereford beef ranch in New South Wales. I was very much in the world in those days and those Australians taught me many things, but one of the good things they taught me was how to ride a horse - I've never forgotten that to this day and I'm still riding Snowy.

We would come home dusty and tired after having worked a long day! Dusty and tired we would go into the local pub in the village. But you know, every single night - if I remember correctly it was at six o'clock - every man, and there were some tough boys in that bar, would put their beers down on the counter and be absolutely silent. There would be a little red light that would come up in the corner of the bar, this was right through the country; there would be a voice that would come over and say 'lest we forget'. Then they'd speak about all the men that had given their lives for the country: the First World War, the Second World War, the Korean War, the Vietnam War and so forth. No one breathed; no one said a word - utter respect. I've never forgotten that.

We need to remember that the Lord has never ever let us down.

We have a cairn outside our little thatched Chapel, next to the big Tabernacle church. We placed those stones there together as a community many years ago, reminding ourselves that the Lord God had been with us thus far.

Be encouraged today and remember that He is not about to change His mind - He is not about to let us go. He is not about to leave us deserted or to leave us as orphans.

He will be with us to the very end.

God bless you and remember Jesus will never leave you.

BEYOND ADVENTURE

XTREME GAP YEAR

EXPERIENCE LIFE

ON AN EXTREME LEVEL

FULL & HALF YEAR OPTIONS NOW AVAILABLE !

JANUARY - JUNE | JULY - NOVEMBER

THE CONCEPT OF 'EXTREME EDUCATION' WAS DESIGNED TO PROVIDE A CHALLENGING ENVIRONMENT FOR YOUNG PEOPLE TO DISCOVER AND DEVELOP THEIR LEADERSHIP POTENTIAL

WHAT MAKES YOUR PROGRAMME EXTREME AND ADVENTUROUS?

We offer students a wide range of extreme activities to participate in such as: sky diving, bungee jumping, scuba diving, mountain biking, abseiling, kayaking etc.

WHAT IS THE VALUE OF A GAP YEAR PROGRAMME?

A gap year gives young people time to reflect on what they think would be the college/varsity or career choice best suited to their needs. It allows them to clarify their interests and become aware of their strengths and weaknesses.

We also believe a gap year allows them to take advantage of learning that takes place outside the classroom and apply these skills in real life situations, within a protected environment. It is imperative that youths experience life in communities different from those in which they have been living and our extreme gap year programme offers them this experience. We further believe that gap years allow students to learn about a variety of careers before making a critical decision and to gain maturity, initiative and resourcefulness, all valuable life skills.

WHAT OUTCOME DO YOU HOPE IS ACHIEVED IN EVERY STUDENT'S LIFE ONCE COMPLETING YOUR PROGRAMME?

Our programme is designed to meet, challenge and grow the complete individual, body, soul and spirit, as we train tomorrow's leaders today. Our desire is for the young person to have fun and 'discover themselves' as they are developed into a person with vision and purpose. We endeavour to take boys and girls and to mould them into young men and women that will have a positive influence on our society and the world.

DESCRIBE HOW THE PROGRAMME WORKS - WHEN IS YOUR INTAKE, HOW LONG DOES IT LAST AND HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

The Beyond Adventure Extreme Leadership Gap Year Programme was launched in 2001. We are located 100 kilometres north east of Port Elizabeth in Alicedale. We are situated close to some of the great game reserves such as Addo Elephant Park and Shamwari. Our programme runs from the last week in January till November. The students are accommodated in rooms where they will learn to live with three other students. Cost enquires and further info can be obtained from our offices as well as our website www.beyondadventure.co.za, under the download section.

WHAT MAKES YOUR PROGRAMME UNIQUE AS OPPOSED TO OTHER GAP YEAR COURSES?

We believe the Beyond Adventure concept to be unique in South Africa. The concept of 'Extreme Education' was designed to provide a challenging environment for young people to discover and develop their leadership potential. Leadership deals with direction, vision, purpose and principles and our leadership programme focuses on building the students up, making them aware of other cultures, helping them with emotional bank account building and strengthening them as individuals functioning in a group context.

Most importantly, we run a programme that is founded on Biblical principles with Jesus Christ as the foundation stone.

FINDING COMFORT IN CHRIST WHEN LIFE BECOMES BITTER

Ruth 1:20 [NET] But she replied to them, “Don’t call me ‘Naomi’! Call me ‘Mara’ because the Sovereign One has treated me very harshly.

For many people, names reveal affirmations, significance, purpose and an endowment of blessing. To some, they are a reflection of a situation or conditions children born into. And it goes without saying that an immediate expectation is placed on the person’s life, just because of the meaning their name carries. This was also true to Naomi; she expected a pleasant life, an expectancy which could have been founded on the root meaning of her name. The Hebrew meaning for the name Naomi is from the adjective Noam, which literally means “my pleasant one” or “my lovely one” (Biblical Studies Press, 2007). Her name has such a virtuous meaning, one which she could have hoped would be reflective on her own life.

When she left Bethlehem with her husband and two sons, it was a time of famine; consequently, they decided to relocate to Moab – hoping to find greener pastures. Instead of receiving provision as they have hoped for, death entered her lovely home, stealing her husband - the provider of her household and her companion. Ten years following, while she was still recovering from her heartache, more sad news made its way to her heart, opening the same wound she has been nursing ever since she lost her husband... Her two sons perished. Nothing could have ever prepared her for this calamity.

Moab became a land that looked like it was prepared for her downfall. Trouble came like a whirlwind into her soul, scattering her emotions and leaving her with feelings of bitterness.

Disconsolate and full of grief, Naomi decided to go back to her native land, Bethlehem. She never thought she would have to return with such shame and feelings of emptiness. Her own life was now cloaked with the very famine she was running from. She was in a worse state than the day they left.

As she made her way back into the entry gates of Bethlehem of Judah, with no husband and no sons, only a daughter-in-law by her side who resisted leaving her... Naomi refused to be called by her pleasant name. Instead she told her well-wishers to call her “Mara”, which means “bitter”. To her, that name perfectly matched all the unpleasant events that took place in her life.

Naomi was filled with bitterness because she thought that God orchestrated all the bad things that had happened in her life. She was expecting to return to Bethlehem complete but instead, she said, “God caused her to return empty”. She even resolved that God caused her to suffer by sending tragedy upon her (Ruth 1:20-21). She made her judgment based on a wrong perception of God. What Naomi failed to see, was that God is not an inventor of evil.

Naomi’s life story resembles ours in so many ways. When trouble comes knocking on our doors, and we are faced with trials of many kinds, out of agony

*“His good plan will

we tend to point our fists at God. Tragedy tends to crush our spirits and leave us dismantled in our faith. Moreover, we start asking questions that testify against our faith. Questions like: “Why God why?”, “Where is God?”, or “Why would God let this happen to me?” The aftermath of grief can sometimes make us bitter and stir up anger within our souls. Often times, without even realising it, we start confessing words that are unparalleled to God’s Word.

As the world is facing this global crisis, many people have experienced numerous job losses due to the economic downturn. The bad news seems to come in every corner. It seems as though everywhere you look, there's someone that you know pronounced dead, quarantined or hospitalised. Some businesses have been forced to shut down or momentarily stop production. It looks like we are experiencing an adverse of what we have been believing and praying for.

Oftentimes, we face terrible situations in life, some of which were not caused by our own negligence. We endure suffering that we have no control over. As children of God, we must keep in mind that we are not exempt from life's challenges and the detours of life that can push us to swerve from our initial plans. However, while we are going through challenges we should know that our covenant promises that all things will ultimately work out for our good.

What happened to Naomi was terrible; however, it wasn't God's doing. What is happening right now in our world is horrifying, yet it doesn't originate from God. The Word of God declares that the enemy comes to steal, kill and destroy but Christ came to give us abundant life (John 10:10). Satan's mission is to distort everything that God has created. We need to be discerning of his schemes and not be caught unaware by his devices. When we have a wrong perception of God we tend to have a wrong perspective regarding the outcome of our lives.

It is in the shattering moments of life that we need to come even closer to God and not drift away. Wrong imagery of God was the root cause of Naomi's bitterness. Moreover, her bad confession fuelled the pain of grief instead of obtaining shelter of comfort for her healing in God. She felt neglected and abandoned by God. That similar lament echoed to the ears of Jesus, when Mary the sister of Lazarus was still grieving her brother's passing, saying, "if you were here earlier, our brother would have not died" (John 11:32). Her loss was bitter and caused her to forget the power Christ had to overturn the situation.

Although Naomi didn't have the same privilege as Mary and Martha, of experiencing the physical resurrection of their brother Lazarus, consolation did come when her grandchild was born. The marriage of Ruth to Boaz (her kinsman-redeemer) was surely a blessing from God. The Lord redeemed all her losses, brought back the inheritance and enormous provision (Ruth 4:9).

The same courtesy that was revealed in Naomi's life still applies to us today. In these trying times, when our world is facing so many uncertainties and disruptions, it is through having a kinsman-redeemer, Jesus Christ, that we can see a turnaround in our lives' situation. Jesus took the cup of bitterness and emptied it for us so that we can enjoy the sweet rewards that come from God. All wrath was imputed on him on the cross. He became a sweet-smelling savour to God (Ephesians 5:2). All we need to do to come out of a snare of bitterness caused by loss, pain and disappointments, is to have a renewed image of who God is.

Our God is good.

It doesn't matter what we are facing right now. His good plan will always prevail against the wicked plan of the enemy for all nations.

THE SECRETS TO LEADING HIGH ACHIEVERS

As a leader, at some point in your career you'll have the influence, budget, and resources to build a team of high achievers.

High achievers come in all packages and personality types, and can revolutionize organizations. However, what I find more often is that bosses discover pretty quickly they are way out of their depth when it comes to managing that kind of brilliant, high-energy team - or worse - they become intimidated by their talent. Either way, it's a crisis waiting to happen.

When you get to that point in your career - or if you're already there - here's a handful of good tips for maximizing your leadership ability with high achieving teams:

1. Start with yourself. High achievers respect leaders who have high standards, perform well under pressure, and can inspire teams even in the most difficult circumstances. You'll never lead high achievers well if you can't lead yourself.
2. Treat them differently from low achievers. Far too often (especially in religious or non-profit organizations) we want to treat everyone the same, but with high achievers, that's a recipe for disaster. Christian principles teach that we respect everyone equally because we are all loved by God equally. However, that doesn't mean our gifts, talents, and skills are equal. When it comes to salaries, office hours, rules, freedom, perks and other job-related issues, each person on the team should be rewarded based on their value to the project.

"Maximize your leadership ability"

3. Give them the resources they need, and then get out of the way. You're only shooting yourself in the foot when you don't give high achievers the resources they need. Micromanaging is the worst thing you can do with these high performers. So don't let your insecurities as a leader get in the way of allowing them to fly.
4. Separate them from low achievers. Nothing will drive a high achiever crazy faster than having to work next to a low achiever. My advice? Put them on a different floor, different room, or better yet – a different building than the other members of your team.
5. Pay them what they're worth and stop nit-picking your best people. Sure we want to think people are working for you because of the "cause", but people have to pay their bills. Obviously budgets are a challenge for everyone, but when you do have the resources, by holding back financially with your best people, you're killing a big part of their motivation. Rewards matter.

6. Finally, give them deadlines and don't be afraid to add pressure. A dirty little secret among creative people is that we actually love deadlines. The worst thing you can do is assign a project and not give your team a date when it's due. Good planning needs benchmarks.

None of these ideas needs to be over-done or cause tension in your organization. But through skilful leadership, you can take your high achievers to even higher levels and in the process transform your organization.

LEADING CREATIVE PEOPLE

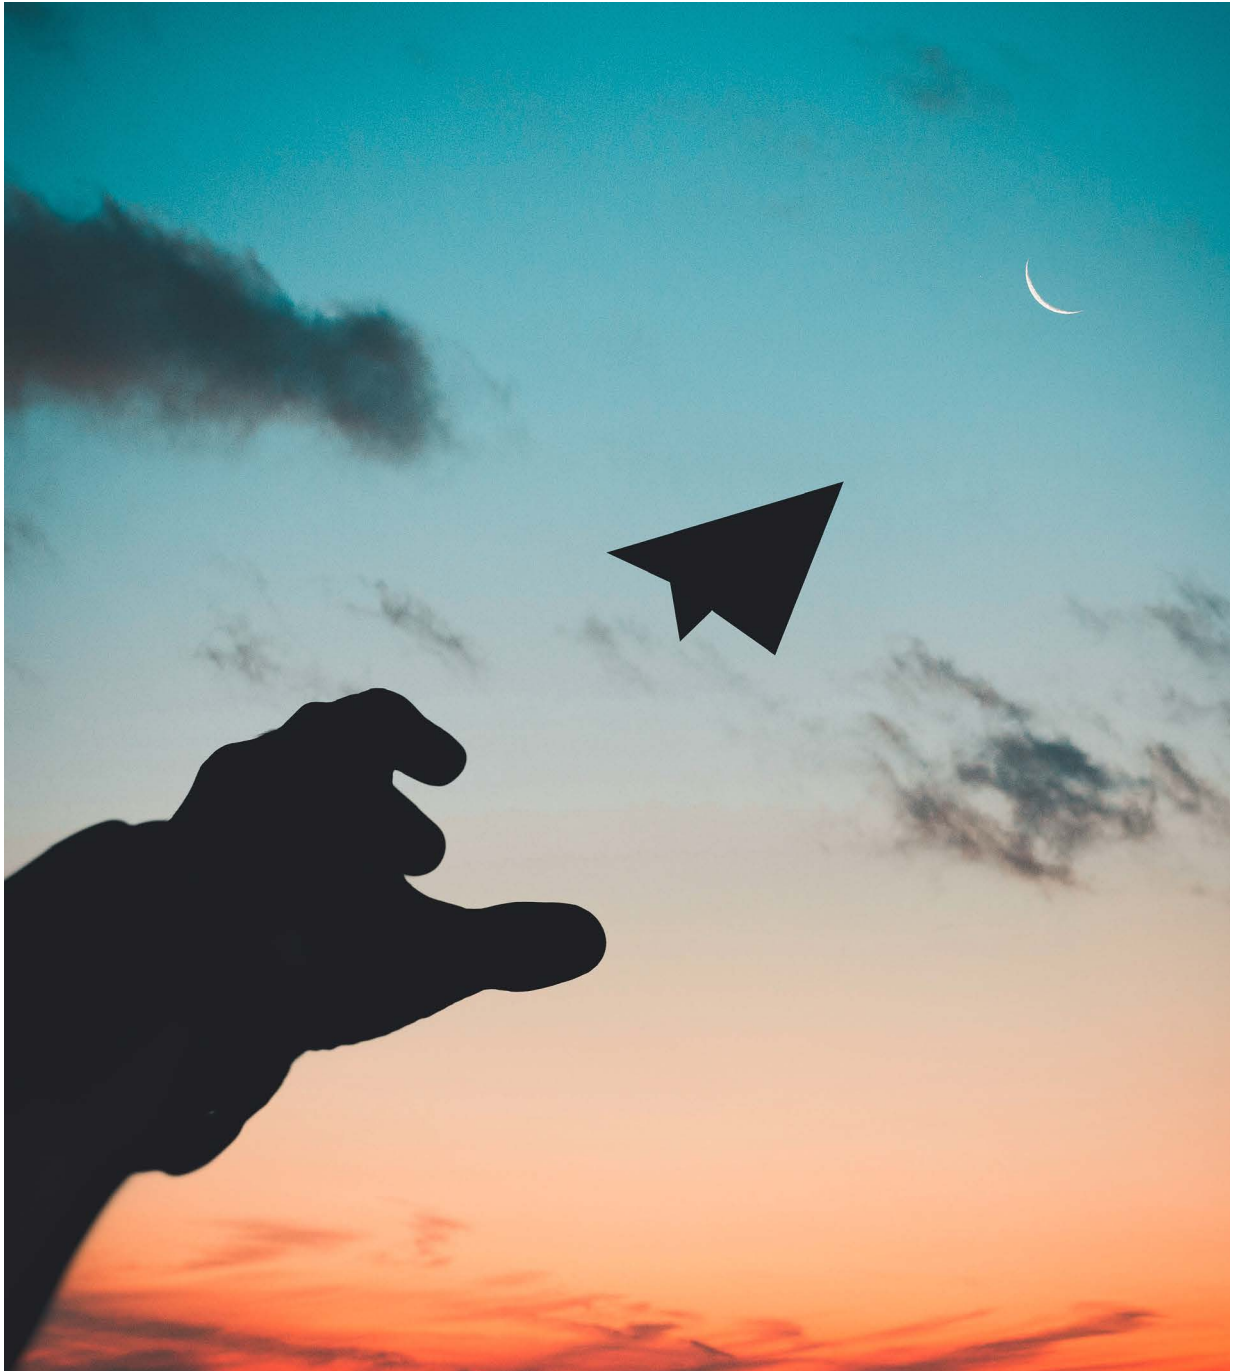

How difficult is it to lead creative people? Put it this way – it's the #1 question I'm asked at conferences and leadership events.

My friend Daryl Allen, a producer at Leading the Way Ministries in Atlanta, sent me this quote that puts it all in perspective. It's from Ed Catmull, President of Pixar Animation Studios and Walt Disney Animation, and author of the book "Creativity, Inc." (Which I highly recommend.) Ed's quote really explains the delicate balance of leading versus micromanaging:

It is easy to be critical of the micromanaging many managers resort to, yet we must acknowledge the rock and the hard place we often place them between. If they have to choose between meeting a deadline and some less well defined mandate to "nurture" their people, they will pick the deadline every time. We tell ourselves that we will devote more time to our people if we, in turn, are given more slack in the schedule or budget, but somehow the requirements of the job always eat up the slack, resulting in increased pressure with even less room for error.

"How do you lead?"

Given these realities, managers typically want two things: (1) for everything to be tightly controlled, and (2) to appear to be in control. But when control is the goal, it can negatively affect other parts of your culture. I've known many managers who hate to be surprised in meetings, for example, by which I mean they make it clear that they want to be briefed about any unexpected news in advance and in private. In many workplaces, it is a sign of disrespect if someone surprises a manager with new information in front of other people.

But what does this mean in practice? It means that there are pre-meetings before meetings, and the meetings begin to take on a pro forma tone. It means wasted time. It means that the employees who work with these people walk on eggshells. It means that fear runs rampant.”

What do you think? When it comes to your creative team, how do you lead?

LEGACY

We often hear the word “legacy” being thrown out in conversation, but more often than not our understanding remains superficial.

Legacy is something that impacts generations, cities, businesses, ministries, and families. A legacy is a powerful gift to leave behind, even more powerful than an inheritance. While an inheritance is something that could be spent and used up, legacy is a spiritual investment that continues to bear fruit long after the lifespan of a mere inheritance. At the time of passing on a legacy, it is the ceiling of one generation becoming the floor or foundation for the next generation to begin building on.

We have to get out of the cycle of the world, out of convenience, and out of our comfort zones. As humans and children of God we are unable to grow or move forward in our callings if we remain in our comfort zones. Take the apostle Peter as an example...he was in the comfort of a boat, in the safety of a vessel. But in order for Peter to go to the next level in His walk with God he had to take a step of faith towards the feet of Jesus and walk out his walk of faith. His walk of faith was outside the boat and on top of an ocean – with the waves all crashing around him. We have to realize that the waves crashing around us are the circumstances of life and it is up to us to shape our lives or be shaped by our lives. We have to shift our focus to the future. The Word says that “faith is now” and it is “the substance of things hoped for and the evidence of things not yet seen” (Hebrews 11:1). Faith is future, and we have to begin to realize that we are here to form a legacy by faith for the next generations that are to follow us.

My personal view on the concept of legacy is that firstly it is being faithful in the calling that God has put on your life. Your children will see that, and their callings will fall into place as you continue to show them the ways of the Lord.

I think of my father, Dr Waldo Malan. He is a first-generation minister who took a step into ministry in the year of 1998. He didn’t know what the future held, but he knew what God had called him into. He made the change to his family, to the family name, and for generations to come. You look now, I am studying at a full-time bible college preparing to become a full-time minister and my sister is in ministry as well. My father has made a change that has impacted the family legacy forever. He is going to leave a legacy of worship and faithfulness within the ministry of his children. It is an honour to be faced with the opportunity to continue his legacy in the years to come.

In the charismatic circles of today we hear the term “mantle” used often. In the context of legacy, the taking on of the mantle is taking on the responsibilities or role that is passed from one generation to another. It is the duty of the next generation to take on the mantle, if it is the Lord’s will, of the father or mother. In the case of ministry, it will be taking on the responsibilities or role in ministry of your parents, carrying on the work that they have started and being faithful to the call of God that has been placed on you.

Legacy is very close to the heart of God. We read in Proverbs that we are to train our children up in the way that they should, and they will never depart from it. This is legacy. This is the responsibility of parents with wise counsel to train up their children. Train them up in the Word and in the ways of God as their Father and they will never depart from that. They will never depart from the calling that has been placed on them. God would never start something and just leave it hanging; He is not a God who lies, a God who is lazy, nor a half-hearted or a half-job God. If God has started a ministry, since all ministries are His anyway, He will put people in place to take on the mantle and legacy of the leader...To carry on with the move of God and carry out the legacy of the leader, and ministry. God will use people who are likeminded and, more often than not, likeminded people are those of the next generation; the next in line in the family; and the sons or daughters of those who are leaving the legacy behind.

The responsibility of a legacy is immense – it is not one that should be taken for granted or simply ‘in your stride’. When God gave a vision and the full vision has not yet been fulfilled and you are the one responsible for that legacy or mantle, the responsibility falls on you with that vision. It is the vision of God and should you become unfaithful or are not interested, God will move on to the next person. God is a God of vision and completion. He will fulfil the vision He has at any cost. We so often fall into the trap of thinking that God needs us, but in actual fact, that is a lie. God is the Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End. He is above all, He is limitless, and from Him all things exist. Having said that, of course God desires our participation in His plan through a loving relationship with Him!

Just think on the disciples on the boat; Jesus was walking on the water and they stopped Him. He was on a mission, He was walking, but they saw Him and met Him with an expectation. God will only meet us at the level of our expectation. If we are not expecting to carry out a legacy, leave a legacy, live by faith, or even take on a mantle, God will not give it to us. It is our responsibility to take on the mantle, choose to carry out the legacy, and then be faithful with every instruction we receive from the Holy Spirit.

My view on this and where I am in my walk with the Lord is that of great honour. I am honoured to have been brought up in a family of faith; in a family that desires to be in the perfect will of God at all times. Having a father who has been in full-time ministry, has made a major impact, has left and is leaving a continuous legacy behind, is daunting. I count it as an honour and a privilege to have been chosen to carry out his legacy and the legacy of the ministry alongside other mighty men of God. It is a legacy that will be carried out from generation to generation. As we are faithful with what we have now, what the Lord has revealed to us now, the Lord will continue to reveal more and more through the years to come. God will never reveal everything in one go, because then our human nature will kick in, we will just go out and do, and it will then require no faith. Faith is the only thing that pleases God. As I step into the call of full-time ministry and choose to carry on the legacy of this ministry and the legacy of my father, I will be doing so through a walk of faith and constant communion and fellowship with the Holy Spirit.

Never get overwhelmed, but rather see every opportunity as an opportunity to step out the boat and realize that faith and fear cannot coexist.

I am by no means alone in my views on the power of legacy. Brad Taberer, with his wife Jizanne, is the pastor and leader of KidZone, the children's ministry at River East London.

Brad's ministry calling is helping children live their God-given purpose through the Word of God at River; as well as assisting parents and guardians in raising their families within a household of faith to leave a legacy of faith for the future generations. By his own admission, the legacy he wishes to leave for his son, Samuel, (and future children) is the message of faith that has given life to his wife and himself. It is that message and legacy he wants to leave for his children and the generations to come. The greatest revelation he has learnt so far is: the life you live is the legacy you will leave.

Jade Narainasamy (Youth Pastor, Fully Persuaded Youth) agrees, and says that his legacy to his son is firmly based on Proverbs 13:22 - "A good man leaves an inheritance [of moral stability and goodness] to his children's children, and the wealth of the sinner [finds its way eventually] into the hands of the righteous, for whom it was laid up" (AMP). He believes that his own pursuit of God will leave a heritage and legacy of faith for his son Judah. This simply means that whatever we as children could not do and have, our own children will accomplish and possess. So, the process is simple... Jade says, "As (my wife and I) establish and equip Judah in the Word, it is our deepest desire to see him flourish and experience the fullness of God."

Niall Clur (Young Adults Pastor, Influence Young Adults) and his wife Tayla are passionate about seeing the next generation holistically equipped in the things of God. They believe that God has strategically positioned them for bringing revival to their city and beyond. For them, the future is alive with possibilities. Their hearts' desire is to have a global impact on everyone who desires to be used by God, and aim to accomplish this by using biblical, pragmatic truths to facilitate an environment for change. "You cannot experience true and lasting change apart from the Mighty Presence of God," they confidently declare.

Mark Batterson, in his book Double Blessing (Multnomah Publishers, 2019) writes:

"Legacy isn't measured by what we accomplish in our lifetimes. It's measured by our coaching tree, our mentoring chain. It's measured by the fruit that we grow on other people's trees. It's measured by the investments we make in others that are still earning compound interest twenty years later. It's measured by every blessing we bestow." (p.13)
